THE CENTENARY Legacy Campaign

Be at the heart of St David's Marist Inanda, present and future – partner with us to open doors to access and excellence across two campuses, and help us shape a bold new model for education in South Africa.

ST DAVID'S MARIST INANDA 1941

Marist schools worldwide were born of the vision of access to excellent education during the chaos that engulfed Europe after the French Revolution over 200 years ago. Founded in the middle of World War II, St David's Marist Inanda has always been focused both on future needs, and on the boys currently fortunate to experience the excellence that access to this world class school has given them. Throughout his papacy Pope Francis reminded us that and in a new time of world strife and struggle, our school continues to model this educational excellence both on our campuses and also beyond our gates.

WHY?

South Africa's segregated past has created the most unequal society in the world. It is the responsibility of all of us to contribute to the National Development Plan goal of reducing this inequality, to provide quality South African responses to the United Nations Sustainable Development goals and to be uncompromising in the excellence of our teaching, our coaching, and the character development of the boys of St David's.

HOW?

- We must build ongoing educational excellence for the more than 1300 boys who call the Sandton campus home, and the over 100 boys (eventually over 200 boys) who attend St David's on the Alexandra campus. Implementing our campus development plans will ensure our physical spaces support the academic innovation and creativity of our exceptional staff, the requirements of our religious base and our quality sporting, cultural and character development offerings.
- We must provide access by reaching beyond our gates to offer even more boys the excellence of a St David's education. Extending our bursary programme on the Sandton campus and engaging all St David's boys in service programmes will ensure access for the boys and impact for the community they work in.

WHY NOW?

As St David's moves towards its Centenary we are mindful of the privileged position we have in South African education, and of the responsibility to allow the success of our first 100 years to focus our planning for the second 100 years. The legacy we can leave, and the facilities that will support this, are firmly rooted in our founder's challenge for each child in a Marist school to be known and loved... and loved equally. This is our challenge together – to use the timeless Marist value-set to prepare boys for any future, to provide a personalised journey of uncompromising excellence, to promote academic rigour and to build relational skills for life.

THE IMPACT

"Do we settle for the world as it is, or do we work for a world as it should be?"

With your support, St David's will remain a changemaker in our country, building a world as it should be, no matter how difficult. Our founder was brave and daring. It is time for us all to be the same.

We need your partnership to bring our Campus Plan to life – for the good of all the boys in the school and for the future of South Africa.

At St David's Marist Inanda we continue to challenge the future, quietly but deliberately working towards the world as it should be. Our boys are exposed to multiple viewpoints, taught to engage strongly and respectfully and to interact on diverse topics, making connections on every level – academic, sporting, cultural and religious. We live this in our activities, and just as we want our boys to "look beyond what you have always been", we ask our benefactors and donors to walk with us into a future of even greater success.

Our Marist DNA of daring and bravery positions us to take the step into a new educational model reaching beyond just these buildings and the fences that circle our beautiful campus.

THE WAY FORWARD – A CALL TO ACTION

We have an ambitious plan for our campus and our work, and have set an equally ambitious funding target to achieve this in the years leading to our Centenary celebrations in 2041:

- Our target is for us to raise R100 Million in gratitude for the first 100 years, and then
- to raise R200 Million (and beyond) to create the legacy for ongoing relevance and long-term sustainability in our second 100 years.

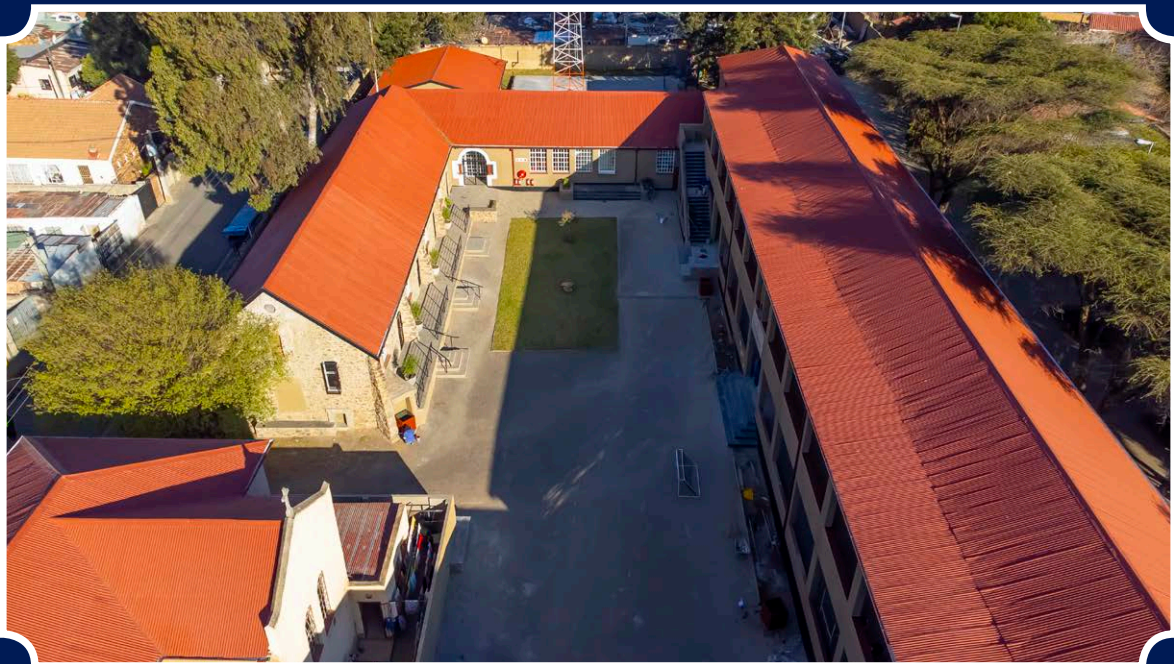

We all know how special a Marist education is and how important it is for us to enhance what we offer as we train brain, body and heart. We need donors from all sectors of our community and beyond, to give according to their means and in line with their interests over the years to come. Whether as lump-sum major donations to fully fund a specific project (with possibilities for naming rights) or monthly recurring smaller donations towards a project close to your heart, YOUR contribution will build the campus of tomorrow for the current boys of St David's. It will leave a legacy for your grandsons and it will build a campus where the dreams we all have for our country can be realised.

The campus development plan looks to the past, to the present and into the future, designed across the core areas of Religion, Academic, Sports, Cultural and Boarding projects. We encourage you to come forward to discuss your contribution (whether financial, in time or in kind) to make the project/s of your choice a reality, whether individually, as a group or via corporate or trust donations. A full donation of an estimated amount will ensure we can start building that project, while part donations will build towards it.
